

Catholic students walk for charity

Catholic high school students in Toronto were front and centre in the Angel Foundation for Learning five-kilometre fun walk May 4. Some 600 people took part in the walk, raising $30,000 for hungry Toronto students. The walk was preceded by an opening Mass and ended with a barbecue and fun activities. The walk was kept in time by a drumline from Father Henry Carr Secondary School and music students from Dante Alighieri Academy provided entertainment during a post-walk barbecue. Ten student leaders from various secondary schools acted as co-marshalls. The Angel Foundation for Learning is the charitable organization devoted to helping needy students at the Toronto Catholic District School Board. (Photo courtesy of the Angel Foundation for Learning)
